Affordable & Timely Results on Budget

Introduction:

Thank you for taking the time to learn a little more about me, my name is Matthew a Computer Science graduate from Brown College in 2000 and have been working professionally in the information technology field for nearly 20 years. I have a strong background in several areas in this field however both enjoy and have focused on the web development side since 2004.

I started back then offering website design services to personal and business clients as a part time / freelance type opportunity however within a few years decided to expand my work into a full-time commitment. Since then I have excelled in different areas of web development from web and advertising designs to SEO, flash and .PHP coding.

Unlike many others I stay current in the industry trends along with the many crucial changes to the web development market as it has evolved at a fast pace year after year. Being I work on web projects for clients full-time means there is no wait time for me to assist you with your projects and in over 90% of cases I am able to start within the same week.

I am so sure clients will enjoy working with me that I normally offer to start projects up front before payment is made in an effort to prove not only my skills but trust as well. I invite you to continue reading about me and my business profile and decide for yourself if I can be of help with your web project.
